

Fish Tank - Magma Carta

The storylines careen from near-disaster to nearer-disaster as Ted [(a super-genius goldfish)], Angelo (a narcissist angelfish) and Hoover (a bottom-feeder and proud of it out for himself) start out with what seems like an ordinary situation and quickly find all rationality going out the window. - Gary Tyrrell, Fleen.com Its fun. - Delos Woodruff, ArtPatient.com Ted is a super-genius goldfish with lots of ideas, inventions and a thirst for adventure, usually with disastrous consequences. Angelo is a self-absorbed angelfish and Ted's sometimes reluctant sidekick. Hoover is the bottom-feeding algae-eating plecostamus who wants nothing more than to be left out of Ted's ideas and given some peace. Fish Tank - Magma Carta is the fourth volume in a series that chronicles their outrageous exploits (originally a web comic from 2006 to 2008). In this story, Ted has increased the aquarium heaters maximum temperature to where it can melt rock, with the intention of using it to tunnel his way to the water table. Angelo however, sends it out of control, not only through the floor but the Earth's crust as well. Now that a magma chamber has been opened and is destroying the entire city in a storm of volcanic destruction, Ted needs to figure out a way to put things right and save himself and his friends in the process. Join this cartoon trio in their aquatic antics and have a few laughs along the way. You'll never look at your Fish Tank the same way again!
